Cleveland, May 13.-Racing wildly about the paths until their legs grew weary, the Cleveland Naps soundly walloped the New York Yankees in a free hitting, wild and woolly game here to-day. Both teams had their hatting eves trained for action. Ringing drives for extra bases were common and when the dust of the battle settled it was found that the Naps had scored just twice as often as the visitors. The score was 12 to 6.

Four pitchers were used in the slugfest and before the last man had been retired two had been shuttled back to the clubhouse to await the day when their curves would prove more deceptive. Quinn started for the Yankees, while Krapp was assigned to the mound by Cleveland. Quinn lasted only two innings and part of the third, during which time the Naps slammed him for six hits, which, coupled with a bason balls and some loose fielding, produced six runs.
